

Blood-Stream Infection (CDC)

---

From: Karen Hust [karen.hust@vidacare.com]
Sent: Tuesday, November 24, 2009 9:21 PM
To: Blood-Stream Infection (CDC)
Subject: Guidelines Draft

I noticed that the draft document does not contain any information regarding utilization of intraosseous (IO) access to replace emergent central lines. IO is well researched and well documented as a safe alternative that provides fluid infusion volumes and peak serum concentrations comparable to CVL.

I respectfully request that IO be included in your document as a viable option to truly prevent central line associated blood stream infections.

Karen Hust, RN, MSN, CEN

Staff Nurse

UNC Emergency Department, Chapel Hill, NC

912-308-1839